

RAMDOHRITE

Ramdohrite is a relatively uncommon mineral that occurs in some hydrothermal vein deposits together with other sulfosalt and sulfide minerals. Northern Peninsula.

Menominee County: Aquila Resources, Inc. Back 40 Project, sections 1 and 12, T35N, R29W: As a minor constituent in oxidized massive sulfide (gossan) (Quigley and Mahin, 2008).

UPDATE FROM: Robinson, G.W., and Carlson, S.M., 2013, Mineralogy of Michigan Update: published online by A.E. Seaman Mineral Museum, Houghton, MI, 46p.